UNWRITTEN LAW, PLEA OF HAINS

Slayer and Brother Are Held Without Bail.

MRS. ANNIS PROSTRATED

Family Blames Jenkins for Army Captain's Deed.

Brother, Who "Conducted" Tragedy at the Bayside Yacht Club, Speaks of Justification on Being Returned to the Cage in the Long Island City Prison, and Both Maintain Reticence Pending Indictment.

New York, Aug. 17 .- Capt. Peter C. Hains, jr., U. S. A., who shot and killed William E. Annis Saturday at the Bayside Yacht Club, was to-day arraigned in the first district court in Long Island City before Magistrate Matthew J. Smith.

Arraigned with the captain was his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, who kept back the crowd with a revolver while his brother carried out his vengcance on the man who, he asserted, had ruined his home. They were held for the grand jury without bail. The defense will probably be based on the unwritten law. Mrs. Hains, wife of the slayer of Annis, yesterday saw her children, now under the care of their grandfather, Gen. Hains, at Sandy Hook, N. J. She is considering court proceedings to gain possession of them.

Mrs. Annis, wife of the victim of deliberate vengeance, is prostrated. The funeral will be held to-morrow evening.

Mrs. Annis Prostrated. While the two brothers, apparently unconcerned, were being arraigned in court, Mrs. Annis was prostrated at her home, 47 Clarement avenue, where her husband's body awaits burial to-morrow. She was unable to add any word of ex-planation or defense on her dead husband's behalf. This was left to a friend,

Mrs. Bennett, who attended her. Mrs. Bennett, who attended ner.
"The whole terrible tragedy," said Mrs.
Bennett, "lies at the door of Capt.
Hains' brother Jenkins. It was he who filled the captain's ears with all the gossip he heard. That was what caused Capt. Hains to begin the divorce proceedings. It is based on gossip and nothing

The disinclination of the Hains brothers to talk freely is largely because of advice given by their counsel, W. C. Percy, who was closeted with them in their cell in the Long Island City jail, and appeared for them in the police court this morn-

Curious Crowds Assembled.

Early this morning a crowd of curious people gathered in front of the jail in expectation of seeing the prisoners transferred to the police court. There were a dozen newspaper photographers and of the door, expecting that the two pristhe district attorney of Queens County, Ira G. Darrin, and the Hains counsel, W. C. Warnings Written,

Coroner Ambler has been informed by parties in whom he had implicit confidence, that three letters, written to Mr. Annis in warning of the impending tragedy, exist. These letters are to be given into the custody of the district attorney.

The police, as well as other persons who have followed the story of the murder, believe that the Hains brothers had been following Mr. Annis for some days prior to the shooting. Mrs. Sarah E. Annis, mother of Mr.

Annis, arrived from Buffalo Sunday morning, in response to a telegram which Mr. Annis, asked to have sent to her soon after the shooting. She went direct-ly to the home of Mr. Louis Harway, and remained there until this morning, when went to Manhattan and spent the day with her daughter-in-law. After the uneral to-morrow Mrs. Annis will go to Denver, where her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Neresheimer (Gertrude Annis), lives. Mrs. Nereshelmer is in bad health.

District Attorney Darrin, accompanied by a couple of his detectives, went to the Bayside Yacht Club this afternoon to look over the scene of the murder.

"I am satisfied with whatever amount of money the government has seen fit to pay for my dirigible balloon," said Capt. Baldwin last night after learning that the board of test of the Signal Corps recommended the sum of $5,737.

"At that price, however, I will los $2,000 or more in actual cash, to say nothing of my time and labor, but glory in the fact that I have succeeded n fulfilling my contract with the War Department, and it is something to be proud of to be known as the first man who ever sold a dirigible balloon to the United States government. I know every member of the board, and believe im plicitly in their judgment. They figured out what the balloon was worth to the Signal Corps, and will recommend that I be paid that amount for it. Mr. Curtiss and myself are perfectly satisfied."

Speed Gauged Price.

At the meeting of the board at the War Department yesterday it was figured out that Capt, Baldwin's highest speed in the tests on Friday was 19.61 miles an hour. The price which Capt. Baldwin
